A Mystery of India

By GROVER J. GRIFFIN

This story was told me by a retired; colonel of the British army. I do not from a passenger who ha vouch for it, but there are certain feared to ride alone in a comtures about it that assure me that it is caused unusual commet not altogether improbable.

Edgar Oldershaw, a lieutenant in an conductor, who emphase his command. He was a great favor the passenger summon ite with the Indian people and mingled with them as much as if not more great was his influence upon them that before he was twenty-five he was given command of a native battalion.

Oldershaw fell in love with a Eura sian girl, the daughter of an English woman and an Indian nabob. Good Pay For Hermits.

Elerinits were a century or more back regarded as a picture-sque feature of country houses. Samuel Rogers records that "Archibald Hamilton, ofterward Duke of Hamilton, advertised for a hermit as an ornament to his pleasure grounds, and it was stipulat ed that the said bermit should have his beard shaved but once a year, and that only partially." Mark Powyss. the squire of Marcham, in Lancashire. offered £50 a year for life to any man willing to live as a hermit on his estate for seven years. He was to be well supplied with provisions and books and other comforts and in return had to abstain from straying beyond bis hermitage and from cutting his hair. beard or nails. The offer was accepted by a man who abode by the conditions for four years and then threw up the job.-London Chronicle.

Care of the Teeth.

The teeth should be washed in tepid water inside as well as outside with a fairly stiff toothbrush in the morning and the last thing at night is the decomposition of particles of food left between the teeth after a meal. Washing with a stiff brush dislodges these particles, and rinsing the mouth freely afterward with some warm disinfectant mouth wash completely removes them.

Perpetual Motion Cranks.

Judging from the applications for patents, one a week, all Great Britain apparently is trying to invent a perpetual motion machine, only Great Britain calls it a "self moving engine." The wires and bones of models may be found bleaching in hundreds on the shelves of the patent office. It goes without saying that not one shows the slightest inclination to move itself. Varied and often pathetic are the bis-tories of the inventors. Not a few of them have spent the years of their prime in the chase of this unattainable will of the wisp; others have dropped thousands of pounds in the quest; still others have trailed the quarry into the insane asylums. A Railway Across the Open Soa. The Florida Keys railway runs from the mainland for a distance of 124 miles over what is practically open sea. Imagine a string of tiny islets stretching like the broken off piers of some Titanic bridge right out into the great salt ocean and you have the Florida keys. Most of them are only a few rods in extent. Here and there is one that reckons its area in acres, while four or five among them are islands rather than islets, covering several square miles. Big or little, however, they serve merely as stations for the railway, which runs over and upon them with the open sea on either side of it. Moreover, the viaducts and embankments that carry the trains, although immensely strong, are so narrow and steep that the passengers look out upon ocean only. A Jewel With a Temper.

Experts in such matters assure as that among jewels the opal alone defies the ingenuity of the imitator. This stone owes its charm not so much to its own intrinsic merits as to the splendor of the rays of light it reflects. It has been called "the chameleon of stones," and it has always been a great favorite with lovers of gems. Nearly 2,000 years ago Pliny remarked that it "displays at once the piercing fire of carbuncles, the purple brilliancy of amethysts and the sea green of emeralds, the whole blended together and refulgent with a brightness that is quite incredible."

The opal is a stone "with a temper." The diamond rises superior to climate. as does the ruby, the emerald and the sapphire, but the opal is of such delicate organization that when exposed to severe cold it loses color, and under the influence of excessive moisture becomes dull. It is a curious fact, however, that the temperature of one's hand will cause it to resume its wonted fire and brilliancy, as will also be the case when it is exposed to the direct rays of the sun.-Harper's.

An Extraordinary Bombardment.

One of the most extraordinary hoaxes on record is said to have been played upon the Dewan Lalla Moolrai, a native potentate of the Punjab, during the second Sikh war, in the winter of 1848-49. The British army, commanded by Sir Hugh Gough, had shut up the dewan and his forces in the fortified city of Mooltan. One day the besiegers were amazed by the thunderous sound of a most extraordinary cannonade, followed not by shot or shell, but by an assortment of miscellaneous provisions in a very fragmentary condition raining into the British

The Sikh chieftain, it was afterward discovered, had found in the city a large store of canned meats of the nature of which he was completely ignorant. The Art of Economy. All economy, whether of state, households or individuals, may be defined to be the art of managing labor. * * * Now, we have warped the word "economy" in our English language into a meaning which it has no business whatever to bear. In our use of it it constantly signifies merely sparing or saving-economy of money means saving money; economy of time, sparing time, and so on. But that is a wholly barbarous use of the word-barbarous in a double sense, for spending money. It means the administration of a house, its stewardship, spending or saving-that is, whether money or time or anything else to the best possible advantage-

"Why doesn't he borrow $200, then?" asked the financier.

"Because he doesn't need $200." "I know. But listen: Let him borrow $200 and pay a hundred of it back on time or a little before time. Then his creditor will think be's going to get the rest of it. That's a fine little system, and your friend ought to know it." This is a grand scheme. Borrow twice as much as you need in order to establish your credit.-Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Where Fielding Is Buried.

The "father of the English novel." Heury Fielding, lies buried amid the cypress trees of the Euglish cemetery of Lisbon. Not long after his death a tomb was erected to mark the spota memorial which an English visitor in 1772 found "nearly concealed by weeds and nettles." In 1830, through the exertions of the then British chaplain, a large sarcophagus was substituted, which about thirty years ago was repaired, and the inscription, a long one in Latin on the front, and the words on the back, "Luget Britannia gremio non dari fovere natum," care fully restored.-London Chronicle.

BRATION POSTPONED

Word comes to the Washington county committee from the Emancipation Celebration Commission at Philadelphia that it has been found impossible to open the exposition on the date originally fixed, for the reason that the last appropriation by the legislature of $775,000 was made at such a late date they have been unable to erect the building, prepare the grounds and arrange the exhibits within the time :emaining till Sep-

Therefore the opening has been deferred to Monday, September 15, which is to be Governor's Day, when Gov. John K. Tener, will deliver the principal address, following a grand street paracie of historical pageant, representing every phase of the negro's progress firom his introduction into this country as slaves to his present position as educated, refined and exalted station as a useful citizen and valuable member of society.

This has necessitated the changing of date for Washington county day at the exposition, and the chairman has a telegram from the state commission under date of August 22, announcing that the expositioncommission, in session on that date, had designated Friday, September 19, which is the fifth day of the exposition, als Washington county day, and requists that everything be arranged by us with a view

Two hundred men are now employed at the mine, and all eady they have considerable coal ready for hauling. Gathering locomotives on the first trip will be sent only about threefourths of a mile into the mine, from where the first loads will be secured.

It is planned to have the mine openating in full by the first of September. Then about 500 men will be employed. New men will be taken on just as rapidly as way can be made for them and they can be secured. The new motors being placed today are four 15-ton and ten 6-ton.

When the mine is started it will be operated for the first time since the disasulous file of three years ago in May when the Charleroi Coal tipple was entirely destroyed. The new tipple erectet by the Carnegie Coal company, on which the finishing touches are being put today is entirely built of steel, and is of the latest and most up-to-date type.

C. W. Hall will be the local superintendent of the mine. The general offices of the company are in Pitts- commissioners by August 29.

Darkness; Don't Know Why

For the space of from 15 minutes to a half an hour Friday evening Charleroi was pitch dark, and nobody seems to know just why. The lights suddenly went off after various threats at 8:30, and remained off straight ahead until 8:45: Then they came on again for a short time and blinked again and lapsed. ASK FOR BDSON BALLOTS

County Commissioners to Let Contract on August 29

SPECIFICATIONS

For the primary elections to be held in Walshington county in September 84,152 official baliots and 23,037 specimen ballots are to be plinted according to the county commissioners who today are asking for bids. All bids on the printing of the ballots must be in the office of the county

The county commissioners of this county have a goodly number of ballots for all of the seven parties. It is not expected that there will be scalcely any vote on the Bull Moose or Roosevelt Progressive tickets, but yet there will be ballots, according to law. Neither is it thought there will be many votes cast on the Prohibition ticket but there will be a sufficient number for all possible demand, the commissioners simply following out the law and figures of the votes cast

More non-partisan ballots are to be printed than of any other kind. It will take 46,068 official and 11,767 specimen of this classification. These non-partisan ballots are to be used in voting on superior court judges. Next in number will be Washington patity ballots. Of these there will party ballots, 11,232 official and 3,058 many of the pioneer residents of this specimen. Then comes the Democratic ballots. Of these there will have to be 11,126 official and 2,031 specimen. Republican ballots will number 9,394 official and 2,598 spec-

Other parties will have the following number of ballots: Prohibition, official 674, specimen 418; Socialist, official 4.100: specimen 1,275; Rull Moose, official 700, specimen 425; Clyde Abrams has returned to his Roosevelt Progressive, officia: 858, specimen 465.

Hinted That There Will be "Lots of Fun" at the Forthcoming Primaries

SOME MAY LOSE BALLOT

If a Man Did Not Support Majority on Any One Ticket Last Fall He is a "Goner" They Say

There is a hint that there may be ome challenging at the forthcoming prima.ic: from various sources, and there is, it is likely that all parties will be concerned. Confusion over the party enrollment law and its workings will furnish the cause. How this new law can be interpreted and how it will work on first trial can guess.

Unless a man in voting at the general election last fall voted fo: a majority of voters on one ticket, he is ikely to be disfranchised entirely at the primaries, according to the opinion of the county commissioners. This complexing situation comes from the Audi or General Powell various recently adopted election

> Suppose a man split up his vote between the Republican, Washington and Democratic candidates at the general election last fall, without voting for the majority of candidates on any one of the wickets. If he is challenged he will either have to swear to a be, or not vote, according to the interpretation of the law by the county commissioners who so medified a local leader today.

> If a man is challenged by someone who says he voted on the wrong ticket at the primaries, the man has to swear he is right. And right here it is hinted several may get in wrong. It is rumored that in registering some have not been ascantiul as they might have been in giving their party preference, giving rather the ticket they would like to vote at the present time rathe: than the ticket they favored at the last general election. The enrollment law has caused in a sense a splitting of hairs, and it may in some localities work a hardship at the first

To the Public.

Receiving my education in the great school of Practical Knowledge, I have come in close touch with the needs and wants of the working People. Every success which I have achieved, either in the workshop or in public life has been the result of strict attention to duty and hard work.

Having been a resident and tax-paver of Charleroi for over twenty-two years, and a conscientious member of the Board of Education for twelve years, I feel eligible to announce to the voters my candidacy for Burgess of Charleroi.

At the coming Primaries, I earnestly solicit you fair consideration; and if I should receive the nomination and election I give my sacred promise to do my duty in a just and impartial manner---ever keeping uppermost in mind the uplift and betterment of humanity.

I assure you, the office shall be one of Public trust, filled by servant of the people, and for the people.

FOR BURGESS

To the Voters of Charleroi:

At the primary election on Tuesday, September 16, 1913, I will be a candidate for burgess on the Democratic ticket. I have been a taxpayer in Charleroi and North Charleroi boroughs for fitteen years, and a consistent voter of the Democratic political faith. In casting your vote at the coming primary election, kindly give me a little consideration with the rest of the candidates.

Respectfilly,

S. L. Woodward

FOR TAX COLLECTOR

To the Voters of Charleroi:

At the primary election to take place on Tuesday, Sept mber 16, I will be a can didate on the Washington Party Ticket for the office of Tax Collector. As accountant I have had 10 years experience, and as auditor of borough finances for two years, I have become familiar with the work of tax collecting. I am a property holder and tax payer and alive to the interests of the borough. In casting your vote at the primary election, I ask your kindly consideration.

Perpetual Motion Cranks.

Judging from the applications for patents, one a week, all Great Britain apparently is trying to invent a perpetnal motion machine, only Great Britain calls it a "self moving engine." The wires and bones of models may be found bleaching in hundreds on the shelves of the patent office. It goes without saying that not one shows the slightest inclination to move itself.

Varied and often pathetic are the his tories of the inventors. Not a few of them bave spent the years of their prime in the chase of this unattainable will o' the wisp: others have dropped thousands of pounds in the quest; still others have trailed the quarry into the insane asylums. If all the wasted en ergy spent in seeking the solution of this problem had been concerted into the beaten channels of endeavor the patent office officials believe there would be few problems of mechanics left today unsolved.—New York Sun.

A Railway Across the Open Sea. The Florida Keys railway runs from the mainland for a distance of 124 miles over what is practically open sea. Imagine a string of tiny islets stretching like the broken off piers of some Titanic bridge right out into the great salt ocean and you have the Florida keys. Most of them are only a few rods in extent. Here and there is one that reckons its area in acres. while four or five among them are islands rather than islets, covering several square miles. Big or little, bowever, they serve merely as stations for the raliway, which runs over and upon them with the open sea on either side of it Moreover, the viaducts and em bankments that carry the trains, al though immensely strong, are so narrow and steep that the passengers look out upon ocean only. Gaelie is the language of the high landers of Scotland. The name belongs also to the sister languages of Ireland and the Isle of Man, but these have other names more commonly applied to them-Irish and Manx-and the term Gaelic is usually reserved for that-spoken in Scotland The three languages were originally one and now stand in much the same relation to each other that broad Scotch does to king's English

Pleasant Hypocrites.

In a school i once attended the most popular girl was the most tactful one. As far as I know, only one girl disliked ber. That girl was spiteful, cross and therefore not very well liked. Do you know what she used to call our idol: A hypocrate. The words bothered me not a little, and i spoke to my chum about it, but she answered me in her thoughtful little way:

"Well, I guess that may be. Betty is a hypocrite if being a bypocrite means saying little kind things based on small pretexts and leaving unsaid the unkind things, no matter how good a reason there is for saying them. But she's a mighty comfortable person to bave around. I wish that the world was full of such hypocrites!" - Christian

Cheese

The British are the greatest cheese eaters in the world. England also beads the list for diversity of cheeses. reventeen different værtetles being produced there. France comes next and then italy. Holland, Norway and Sweden. British cheeses are all made from cows' milk and without any admixture save in the case of "loaf" cheddar, which is sometimes flavored with sage leaves. Foreign cheese makers show less exclusiveness. Roquefort is made from sheep's milk and Groyere from goats' milk,

When the Bugle Was a Gong.

When John E Wilkie, formerly chief of the secret service, was young he served with distinction among the border fighters of the west in their rails on bands of insurgent Indians and cattle rustlers.

On one occasion, according to Mr. Wilkie, the posse on which be was serving ran out of available horses. and car horses had to be forced into commission. These animals were unaccustomed to any command other than that of the car bell and refused to obey the customary bugie calls.

Accordingly the posse found it neces sary to procure a large gong, which was struck once for the troop to stonand twice for it to advance. In this nanner they kept fairly good order. One of the company, a bit of a wag, composed a parody on "Barbara" Frietchie." a portion of which ran:

"Who touches a hair of you gray head Dies like a dog' Dingding!" he said.

A Jewel With a Temper.

Experts in such matters assure a that among jewels the opal alone defies the ingenuity of the imitator. This stone owes its charm not so much to its own intrinsic merits as to the splendor of the rave of light it reflects It has been called "the chameleon of stones," and it has always been a great favorite with lovers of gems. Nearly 2,000 years ago Pliny remarked that it "displays at once the piercing fire of carbuncles, the purple brilliancy of amethysts and the sea green of emeralds, the whole blended together and refulgent with a brightness that is quite incredible."

The opal is a stone "with a temper." The diamond rises superior to climate. as does the ruby, the emerald and the sapphire, but the opal is of such delicate organization that when exposed to severe cold it loses color, and under the influence of excessive moisture becomes duil. It is a curious fact. however, that the temperature of one's hand will cause it to resume its wonted fire and brilliancy, as will also be the case when it is exposed to the direct rays of the sun.-Harper's

An Extraordinary Bombardment.

One of the most extraordinary houses on record is said to have been played Upon the De an limita Moding, a ma tive potentate of the Punjab, during the second Sikh war, in the winter of 1848-49 The British army, commanded by Sir Hugh Googh, had shut up the dewan and his forces in the fortified city of Mooltan One day the besiegers were awazed by the thunderous sound of a most extraordinars cannonade, tollowed not by shot of shell, but by an assortment of miscellaneous provisions in a very fragmen tary condition raining into the British lines. The Sikh chreftain, it was after ward discovered, had found in the city a large store of canned meats of the nature of which he was completely lgnorant. A native spy in British pay gravely informed him that they were powerful explosives, and hence for some days the British camp was greeten with showers of Strassburg pates and other more or less mangled but

Where Fielding Is Buried.

The "father of the English novel." Henry Fielding, lies buried amid the cypress trees of the English cemetery of Lisbon. Not long after his death a tomb was erected to mark the spota memorial which an English visitor in 1772 found "nearly concealed by weeds and nettles." In 1830, through the exertions of the then British chaplain, a large sarcophagus was substituted, which about thirty years ago was repaired and the inscription, a long one in Latin on the front, and the words on the back, "Luget Britannia gremio non dari fovere natum," care fully restored.—Loudon Chronicle.

OPENING OF CELE-BRATION POSTPONED

Word comes to the Washington county committee from the Emancipation Celeb.ation Commission at Pha'adelphia that it has been found impossible to open the exposition on the date originally fixed, for the reason that the last appropriation by the legislature of $775,000 was made at such a late date they have been unable to erect the building, prepare the grounds and arrange the exhibits within the time :emaining tall Sep-

Therefore the opening has been deferred to Monday, September 15, which is to be Governor's Day, when Gov. John K. Tener, will deliver the principal address, following a grand street parade of historical pageant, representing every phase of the negro's progress from his introduction into this country as slaves to his present position as educated, refined and exalted station as a useful citizen and valuable member of society.

This has necessitated the changing of date for Washington county day at the exposition, and the chairman has a telegram from the state commission under date of August 22, authouncing that the exposition commission, in session on that date, had designated Friday, September 19, which is the fifth day of the exposition, els Washington county day, and requists that everything be arranged by us with a view to making that day a record breaken.

The council of the borough of Washington at their recent meeting generously donated to the county committee the use of the city hall for Thursday night, August 28, at which time the Tylerdale band will give a grand. concert, the nominal admission procuis to be applied to defraying cost of transmortation of that hand to Philadelphia and return for services on.
